VTA Mental Health Services

Martina Lee, EMDR Certified Therapist

I utilize Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing (EMDR). I have found this type of trauma therapy to be helpful in treating PTSD, depression, anxiety, and past painful experiences that have resulted in negative thoughts and beliefs about ourselves. My goal is to help you look at yourself and your pain differently, in a way that will create hope for you and help you to reach your goals.

Martha Thorson, EMDR Certified Therapist

In this confidential, supportive context, we can explore your concerns and build on your strengths.

My primary focus and extensive training is in the area of trauma recovery, working primarily through EMDR (Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing). My experience includes more than 15 years of providing therapy. At this time, I'm only working directly with adults, but I'm experienced and happy to work with you on parenting children of any age. If thorny spiritual issues add to your challenges, I also have experience and extensive training integrating spirituality with the realities of life.
